

AMBREY JOINS THE INTERNATIONAL SALVAGE UNION

Southampton, United Kingdom – 07 May, 2026

Ambrey has been formally certified and welcomed as a full member of the International Salvage Union (ISU), marking a significant milestone in the company's continued growth and commitment to the global salvage community.

The ISU is the leading international body representing the marine salvage industry, comprising specialist organisations with proven expertise in salvage and pollution prevention. Membership is reserved for companies with a demonstrated track record of successful operations and is widely recognised as a mark of professional competence and industry standing.

As a full member, Ambrey joins a global network of salvage professionals, contributing to the development of industry standards, operational best practices, and collaboration in complex maritime casualty response operations.

Ambrey's inclusion reflects its expanding global response capability, combining risk intelligence, offshore assets, and operational expertise to support vessels operating in high-risk and challenging environments. Its Global Response team, together with trusted partners, brings decades of towage and marine services experience, further strengthening the ISU's collective capability across key maritime regions.

Ed Wollaston, Director of Global Response at Ambrey, commented:

“Becoming a full member of the International Salvage Union is a significant milestone for Ambrey. It reflects not only the capability we have built across global response and salvage operations, but also the trust placed in us by clients operating in some of the world’s most challenging environments. We look forward to contributing to the ISU community, sharing insight, strengthening collaboration, and continuing to deliver safe, effective and innovative solutions to the maritime industry.”

This membership reinforces our commitment to operational excellence, safety, and collaboration in addressing the evolving challenges of maritime salvage and emergency response.
